

Offshore Marine Operations Awareness Course

7th – 9th November 2006

Hotel Ibis, Murray Street, Perth, Australia

This three-day course has been designed to be suitable for anyone with an interest or a need to know more about offshore marine operations, in particular:

- Young engineers, managers, business development executives, HSE personnel & and those involved in QA or Environmental analysis & planning issues.
- Anyone strongly involved in Project support work related to the offshore industry
- New entrants from other industry sectors
- Those within the sector seeking to acquire a greater awareness of this segment or simply looking to update their knowledge
- Those from outside the sector seeking to gain information on how the offshore marine sector works.

By using key supply and service companies the modules are presented by the front line industry players giving the delegates the most up to date information available.
